

Coding for Kids

The "Coding for Kids" event organized by our Centre for Systems and Information Services (CSIS) was one of our community development and catch-them-young efforts towards helping the young ones to understand the technology around them while preparing them for the future.

